Mollie — Analytics Engineering

Dear Hiring Team,

I'm an M.S. Data Science student at Milano-Bicocca with hands-on experience in SQL, dbt, BigQuery, GCP, and Airflow — the exact stack your Analytics Engineering team runs on. At Logiciel Services LLC I built financial data pipelines processing 30B+ records across a lakehouse with structured medallion layers, applied rigorous schema control and data quality checks, and worked directly with business stakeholders to ensure data they could trust for daily operations. At United Bank Limited I integrated banking data across three countries, validating pipelines against regional schemas — experience that maps directly to the reconciliation integrity Mollie requires.

What draws me to this role specifically is the combination of technical depth and business criticality: dbt models powering daily reconciliation are not internal tooling, they are the books. I understand that weight, and I build accordingly. I'm comfortable challenging assumptions with engineers and translating data models into clear answers for Finance and Treasury teams.

I'd be glad to discuss how I can contribute to keeping Mollie's financial data airtight.

Sincerely,
Abbas Taqvi
